

Dan and Michelle Dore, EBC missionaries to West Africa since 1990

Dan and Michelle both grew up in central New Hampshire. They both placed their faith in the Lord Jesus Christ for salvation in their teen years. Neither had ever heard of missions before. One year after they were married, they heard their first missionary speaker, a New Tribes representative from Pennsylvania, who came up to New Hampshire at the invitation of their local church. That was 35 years ago, and they have never been the same since! Dan and Michelle committed their lives to serving Christ anywhere in the world He would lead them.

After five years of training with New Tribes Mission, the Dore family served in Guinea, West Africa, arriving for the first time in 1990. They brought their three children with them, and their fourth child was born in Guinea in 1993.

As part of a multi-national missionary team in Africa, the Dores have served in various support roles, as well as in a tribal church-planting ministry. They had to learn the French language, then a tribal language called "Susu." They have at times home-schooled their children, and have also experienced having their children live in a mission boarding school in-country. Dan was part of the field's leadership team for fifteen years, serving as the field Director for six years.

The Dore's son, Michael, and his wife and four children, are serving in Guinea, West Africa, with Ethnos360 (formerly New Tribes Mission.) They are part of a team reaching the Susu people group.

Their daughter, Danielle, and her husband and two children, are serving in Brazil with Ethnos360. They are part of a team reaching the Deni people group.

Their daughter Rochelle and husband and three children are serving in Papua New Guinea, with Ethnos360. They are part of a team reaching the Iski people group.

Their daughter Janelle and her husband and two children are living and working in Ottawa, Canada.

After 25 years with New Tribes Mission, Dan and Michelle transitioned to become itinerant missionaries to West Africa, sent out by Evangelical Baptist Church. Since 2015 they began making two to three trips each year, partnering with the African church in discipleship, leadership training, and construction projects. This continued until end of 2018.

Unreached People Groups: the awkward conversation

We know who they are. We know where they are. We know what they need. We know what God says. But we really, really, really don't want to deal with them. Let's talk about that.

Seth and Rochelle Callahan are missionaries with Ethnos360. They have spent the last 4 years engaging in a tribal church-planting effort in Papua New Guinea. They, and their children (Manny, Tucker and Griffin), live in a remote jungle location among the Iski people. While there, their team was able to spearhead the first-ever presentation of the Gospel in the Iski language, and the Iski church was born!

WC 101 – Andrew & Rachel Gilson

Cru: Turning Lost Students into Christ-Centered Laborers

There's a battle for the hearts and minds of students on campuses worldwide. Can you imagine, if every student on every campus knew Jesus, the missionary force that could be sent out to work toward the fulfillment of the Great Commission? What potential! Andrew and Rachel Gilson with Cru will share how Cru seeks to turn lost students into Christ-centered laborers through winning, building, and sending students out as Christ's ambassadors wherever they may find themselves. They'll also share how you can be a part of this strategic ministry!

Andrew undergirds this work by leading Cru's National Field Finance Team - coaching Cru's 300+ stateside field teams in their campus finances, freeing them up to be with students, and so see the Gospel advanced and each life lived for the glory of Christ.

Rachel gives leadership to all of Cru on the National Theological Team, specializing in LGBT+ questions. She seeks to help all Cru staff, students and volunteers remain faithful to God's Word while ministering compassionately to people. In this capacity she has written for Christianity Today, DesiringGod, and The Gospel Coalition. She also serves on campus directly with students at Boston University, winning/building/sending them out.

Bethany Miller is the Director of Training and Operations for Child Evangelism Fellowship® of New Hampshire (CEF). She began serving with CEF at the age of fifteen as a Summer Missionary teaching 5-Day Clubs® throughout the state of NH. During that summer of ministry, she learned that only 20% of today's children attend any type of church and only 40% of those who do attend, go to a Gospel preaching church. As the Director of Training, Bethany is responsible for coordinating all the training events for CEF volunteers and other children's workers throughout the state.
